

YVETTE ROSE
Sr. Vice President
Cargo Airline Association

Representing the U.S. air cargo industry for over 25 years, Yvette Rose has been able to gain unique insight and expertise in the advocacy of the air cargo industry. She specializes in regulatory affairs in aviation safety promotion and is often called to serve on government/industry working groups and federal advisory councils.

Yvette also has a passion to inspire the next generation of aviation and aerospace professionals. As a Hispanic female, she recognizes barriers to entry and the challenges for underrepresented groups. In 2016, she was appointed President of the Aero Club Foundation of Washington, a non-profit organization aimed at promoting interest in aviation and aerospace in the District of Columbia public and charter schools by sponsoring educational programs. One of her first tasks as President was to create a scholarship program. The Foundation is proud to offer $5,000 each year to students in the DC metropolitan area with an intent to pursue a career in aviation/aerospace.

Yvette also served as a federal appointee to the FAA's Youth Access to American Jobs in Aviation Task Force; is as a member of the National Aeronautic Association's Board of Directors and serves on the Embry-Riddle University's College of Aviation's Industry Advisory Board.

Yvette graduated from the University of Maryland, School of Business, and the Capital University Law School. She is a member of the Maryland Bar. Yvette resides in Maryland with her husband and two sons.
